EASLEY APPOINTS SMITH TO SEDIMENTATION CONTROL COMMISSION

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley has appointed Robin Klem Smith of Burnsville to the North Carolina Sedimentation Control Commission.

Smith is the enforcement coordinator for the Conservation Council of N.C. in Raleigh. She earned her Bachelor's degree in ecology from Ferrum College in Ferrum, Va., and her Master's degree in environmental management from Duke University.

The commission adopts administrative rules relative to the Sedimentation Pollution Control Act (SPCA) of 1973. It approves and oversees local ordinances and Department of Transportation delegation on sediment control. The commission also oversees the implementation of SPCA regulations and is very active in public education programs. There are 12 members on the board, each serving a three-year term. The governor appoints all members.
